

14. Fold the loose material of the front legs behind the leg, and insert the bottom edge into the pocket formed by the reverse fold made in folding up the legs. Note when you do this you will also have to make 2 more minor folds not shown as they are under the rear flap, so lift the rear flap up out of your way. To see these folds look at the next diagram.

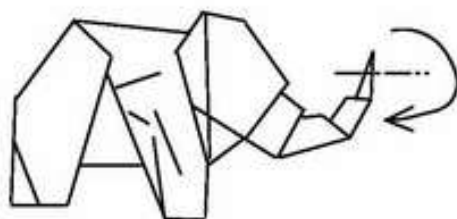

15. This allows us to thin down the front legs so that they match up better with the back legs. While keeping the back legs on the top layer.

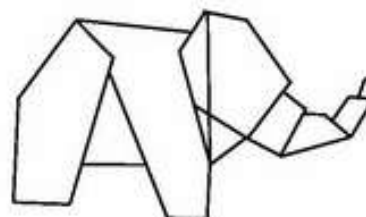

16. Reverse fold the front top corner in, then pleat the head back to form ears.

17. Reverse fold the top of the head inwards, then pleat the head back to form the ears then pleat the trunk upwards three times.

18. This is the final step, reverse fold the tip of the trunk in.

The finished elephant!
I like making him out of foil best, but any paper will do!
